

Dear Hiring Manager,

Having completed computer science with strong course background in machine learning, algorithms, and data structures from UC San Diego, I am excited to apply for a Software Engineer I role at ByteLogic.

My final-year project involved building a full-stack health-tracking web app using React and MongoDB, which helped me grow both my frontend design and backend API development skills. I'm eager to bring this same sense of learning and structure to a collaborative, fast-paced team like yours.

Thank you for your time—I would be privileged to discuss how I can assist ByteLogic in accomplishing its mission.

Best regards,
Kevin Liu
